

Git Flow

Git Flow

Supporting Branches

- Supporting branches are used to aid parallel development between team members, ease tracking of features, prepare for production releases, and to assist in fixing live production problems.
- These branches always have a limited lifetime, since they will be removed eventually.